DANGER OF COMMUNISM AND USSR IN INDIA

The following information was excerpted from an article by Sureyya Agaoglu, one of the group of Turkish journalists who has recently been touring India.

The upper class of India, though educated in Western schools, is still trying to cling to the Eastern traditions. The reason why these Hindus are mad at the Turks is because the Turks, in casting away the Eastern tradition, have totally embraced Western civilization.

The USSR is very active in India. All those whom we met were in favor of Communism. They were full of admiration for China. "See what wonders Communism has accomplished in China," they said. "On the other hand, there is complete misery in India. What would the people of India lose if they turned Communist?" It is true that through the establishment of cooperatives with the government's assistance and long-term loans, Communism may be stopped. But if the West shows the same apathy toward India as the US has shown toward China, India will turn Communist in a very short time.

While India and Pakistan are fighting over Kashmir, the USSR will step in. In addition, the USSR is carrying on very active propaganda in India, Pakistan, and the Near East against the Western democracies. The ground for such work is very suitable. God help the world if Communism should succeed in obtaining a foothold in India.
